Crucial Parley Called to Avert General Strike

Last-Ditch Stand Follows
Day-Long Construction Talks

A desperation meeting will be held today in a last-ditch stand to avert a general construction strike in Greater Victoria.

As the striking carpenters employed by George Wheaton sat through eight hours of negotiations yesterday, the situation was described by observers on both sides as a "powder keg" that could blow up the construction industry for an indefinite period.

Today's crucial meeting will bring together all general contractors of the Victoria Building Industries' Exchange, the bargaining committee of Local 1898 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (A.F.L.-C.I.O.), and a cross-section of the striking employees.

Yesterday's meetings narrowly averted a full flare-up that would have spread the present strike of Wheaton carpenters through the carpenters employed by all Exchange members.

TEST CASE

Yesterday's picketing was effective against projects currently being undertaken by George Wheaton. According to Ernest Oliver, president of the union, truck drivers employed by Evans, Coleman & Johnson refused to cross the picket line at the Strathcona Hotel, major Wheaton contract.

The bargaining to date is believed to have contributed little toward a solution of the dispute between Wheaton's firm and its employees. Demands of the union that no work stoppage clause be in the agreement, and for wages of $1.68 an hour, are still being pressed.

General belief is that the action against Wheaton is a test case against the industry, thus the vital aspect of the series of meetings.

PROLONGED PARLEY

This is the way yesterday's meetings developed: Wheaton and his employees met for two hours in the afternoon without the bargaining committee from the union.

A four-hour meeting in the evening again tried to reach grounds for settlement between employer and his direct employees.

The Wheaton carpenters then requested inclusion of the general union bargaining committee. They sat in and reviewed highlights of the two previous meetings. J. A. Pollard, president of the Exchange, and other representatives of the contracting firms, also joined the group.

CALL FURTHER MEETING

This meeting, still without reaching any agreement, broke up at 2 a.m.

However, the parties agreed, in the interests of halting a general strike, to meet again this afternoon. An observer at the meetings by invitation was Lt. Col. Macgregor Macintosh of the Labor Relations Board.

Rates Dropped For Insurance

VANCOUVER, July 20 (CP)—A 10-cent reduction in annual fire insurance rates on mercantile risks in several British Columbia cities, effective July 15, was announced today.

Graham Rose, chief surveyor of the B.C. Underwriters' Association, said the reduction affects Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster, Nanaimo, Nelson, Kamloops, Kelowna, Vernon and several smaller centres.

U.S. Demand Brightens Work Scene in Canada

OTTAWA, July 20 (CP)—A heavy demand for many Canadian products in the United States contributed to a steady improvement in Canada's employment picture during the second half of June.

The Labor Department today reported increased seasonal activity in construction, agriculture and transportation. Total unemployed registrations at National Employment Service offices fell from 229,490 on June 15 to 204,600 on June 29. This still was $7,400 above the total for the same week last year.

JOBLESS LISTED

By regions, the number of unemployed registered at National Employment Service offices at June 29 with June 15 totals in brackets were:

Newfoundland 16,900 (19,400), Maritimes 23,600 (27,700), Quebec 62,300 (68,100), Ontario 48,200 (49,300), Prairies 28,300 (30,000), Pacific region 25,100 (25,100). "The substantial increase in exports to the United States helped maintain high levels of employment in industries such as metal mining and pulp and paper," the report said. "Shortages of experienced woodworkers have appeared in certain areas."

STAFF INCREASES

Employment in manufacturing generally continued close to last year's level. Sawmills, pulp and paper mills, automobile and electric apparatus plants are increasing their staffs. Employment also increased in some heavy iron and steel plants in Quebec.

The seasonal peak in employment was being reached more rapidly on the Pacific Coast than in the rest of Canada, the report said. Construction employment in most areas reached the seasonal peak, though scattered pockets of unemployed construction workers remained at interior points. In the transportation industry there were many job openings for truck drivers, railway workers and seamen. Wholesale and retail trade improved rapidly during the month, but the volume of tourist trade was below expectations.

Reeve Orders Return Of Water Restrictions

SAANICH residents are again restricted to watering lawns and flower gardens after 8 p.m. Reeve J. W. Casey last night replaced the restrictions, which had been lifted Monday by council, and announced that the ban would remain in force until the present water shortage is over.

"The situation is serious," Mr. Casey said. Residents now are forced to limit lawn-sprinkling to between 8 p.m. and 7 a.m. and then only on authorized watering days.

Union Officials Picket

Picket lines have made their appearance on Victoria construction jobs for the second time this year. Carpenters yesterday morning appeared on all George Wheaton construction jobs bearing strike placards. Carpenters union secretary Jack Finnerty, and president Ernest Oliver are shown manning picket line at Strathcona Hotel.

Claxton Issues Enlistment Call

OTTAWA, July 20 (CP)—Defence Minister Brooke Claxton tonight issued a call for young Canadians to join their country's armed forces.

"I believe the Canadian Forces today are as fine and fit a body of men as we have ever had under our colors at any time," said Mr. Claxton in a radio address.

"What we want now is more of the same kind," Mr. Claxton assured his listeners that Canada's accelerated defence program, announced yesterday by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, "doesn't mean that we expect an on-again off-again war."

STEPS SCHEDULED

Outlining the new defence program, the minister said these steps now are under way or planned:

1. The three armed forces will recruit single men between the ages of 18 and 29. He gave no estimate of the number of men to be recruited, saying "circumstances now justify the recruiting of additional men without any stated ceiling above the present total strength of 47,000."
2. However, service heads are expected to seek between 5,000 and 8,000 recruits.
3. The navy plans to commission more ships, "including the destroyers Crescent and Crusader on the West Coast."
4. UP TO STRENGTH
5. The units of the brigade group—the Princess Patricia's, the Lord Strathcona's, the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Royal 22nd Regiment and the Royal Canadian Dragoons—together with supporting units such as artillery and engineers—will be brought up to full strength.
6. The R.C.A.F. will enlist men for technical trades, particularly radar and a number of "especially fit young men between 18 and 21" for aircrew duty.
7. New recruits will be sought for reserve units of all three services.
8. Production of the F-86 and CF-100 jet fighters will be accelerated.

Mr. Claxton also announced that the twin-engine, all-weather CF-100 had been named "The Canuck."

Proposals being discussed would make use of stores of idle ammunition and other war factories and also divert to military production some plants now turning out civilian goods.

These proposals are expected to be taken up with European government representatives in London next week.

Charles M. Spofford, New York lawyer, was sworn in at the State Department today as Secretary Acheson's deputy on the North Atlantic Treaty Council and will leave for London on Saturday with an eight-man delegation.

The council, of which Spofford is slated to be chosen chairman, will hold its first session with deputies rather than Foreign Ministers in attendance beginning Tuesday. This was originally arranged as an organization session, but it now is learned that the principal business will be to discuss ways and means of greatly increasing and speeding up Atlantic defence arrangements in line with President Truman's message to Congress yesterday.

The Communist regime in Budapest began the attack openly by officially "requisitioning" several monasteries and convents in Budapest, but the extent of the action was not made known publicly.

ACCUSED OF SPYING

The nuns and monks were accused of "aligning themselves with the forces of reaction" and turning their convents into "nests of espionage." Church officials in Vienna said today they learned that 291 nuns and monks were seized in a single night—June 19—in Odenburg.

U.S., British Navy Guns Wipe Out Korean Town

Two Cruisers Bombard With Terrific Results

TOKIO, July 21 (Friday) (AP)—American and British ships have destroyed the East Coast Korean town of Yongdok by gunfire, Vice-Admiral Charles T. Joy announced today.

Yongdok is the city seized by the Korean Communists in an apparent drive on the supply port of Pusan, 95 miles to the south.

Joy, commander of naval forces of the Far East, said in a communique two cruisers bombarded the town during the evening and night of Wednesday.

OBJECTIVE

Yongdok is 25 miles north of Pusan, where the 1st American Cavalry Division has established a beachhead. Presumably Yongdok would be an objective of a drive from the beachhead.

An artillery liaison officer reported the results of the naval bombardment were "terrific."

Joy said large fires were started in Yongdok and smoke still was visible from the ships at sea 12 hours after the bombardment.

After completing this assault in close co-operation with shore fire control parties, the warships turned their guns on other military targets.

These were mostly road junctions pointed out by ground observers and attacked in the continuing campaign to choke off any further southward penetration of Red forces.

TASK FORCE

Joy did not identify the two cruisers. He said they were part of a task force commanded by Rear Admiral J. M. Higgins.

Higgins commands a task force which is charged with blockading the east coast of Korea.

Military maps show Yongdok to be a town of perhaps 10,000 population in normal times. Its importance lies in its position on the coastal railway and highway. No railway leads inland but a highway does—over the coastal range to the central front in the Andong-Hamchang sector where South Korean troops are holding against the Northern invaders.

The town is located in a valley, about three miles from the sea.

Reds Take Taejon; Americans Holding

TOKIO, July 21 (Friday) (INS)—Tank-led Communist troops captured flaming Taejon last night at heavy cost, and far to the southwest broke out on the South Korean plains where "no geographical obstacle" confronts them.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said that hard-fighting U.S. troops now are "blocking the Red advance southeast of Taejon, U.S. rail base city, and he expressed belief that Allied airmen will prevent the southwestern lunge 'from becoming a serious threat.'"

In his latest official bulletin MacArthur did not specify where U.S. 24th Infantry Division troops are blocking the Reds, but in an earlier communique he said the Americans had withdrawn to "more tenable" positions four miles southwest of Taejon.

SOUTHWARD PLUNGE

Troops of the North Korean Fourth Division are on the rampage across the plains south of Nonsan, 20 miles southwest of Taejon. Earlier an Eighth Army Spokesman said they swept through Chonju in a southward plunge that carried nearly three-fourths of the way through South Korea.

Chonju, 40 miles southwest of Taejon, is nearly as big a communications center as Taejon. It is 158 miles below the 38th parallel border and only 62 miles north of Sunchon on the south side of the peninsula.

An undetermined number of American troops was reported in field dispatches to be trapped in the double-flanking movement that forced the Americans out of Taejon.

BELIEVED ESCAPED

Major-Gen. William F. Dean, Division Commander who fought in the savage rearguard action alongside his infantry "shavetails," is believed to have escaped.

His "super-bazooka" combat teams lugged eight enemy tanks yesterday. MacArthur called this the "greatest day's kill by ground troops of Red armor thus far recorded."

The wounded Korean interpreter for the husky General Dean escaped from the burning wreckage of Taejon early today. He said he believed Dean escaped the Taejon trap.

MacArthur dismissed Taejon as not being militarily significant. "While it cannot be denied that loss of Taejon, the temporary capital of the Republic of Korea, will have its psychological repercussions on the Korean people, from a military point of view its loss carries no special significance," MacArthur said.

The communique spoke of an eventual American "offensive" in Korea, saying:

"The temporarily outnumbered United Nations forces assisting the Republic of Korea are prepared to cede positions with a low defensive potential for positions which can be held with forces currently available and which can act as a springboard for General MacArthur's offensives."

War Effect on Housing Under Federal Scrutiny

OTTAWA, July 20 (CP)—Government officials are going to watch closely the effect of the accelerated defence program of Canada and

United States on this country's housing construction program.

An official of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, the Government agency administering all Federal housing legislation, said today in an interview that a slowing down of the home-building boom in United States could mean a reduction in lumber purchases in Canada.

Heavy United States demand for Canadian lumber, particularly from British Columbia, has sent lumber prices soaring recently and caused shortages.

But a better lumber supply might be offset by a shortage of other building materials. Increased use of steel in defence projects could cause a shortage of such things as bathtubs and furnaces.

LIKE MOVE IMPROBABLE

President Truman ordered the Federal Housing and Veterans Administration Tuesday to demand higher down payments and to cut down on building programs generally.

He also recommended that Congress authorize more controls to curb expansion of privately-financed real estate credit.

The official here said he did not think any similar action was planned by the Canadian Government. Amount of a Central Mortgage loan is fixed by statute and cannot be changed without Parliamentary approval.

City Erects New Police Radio Aerial

Street lighting department employees Thomas Thomas and Albert Yule straddle pole 48 feet above roof of police station as they erected aerial for new dual frequency radio system for city police. Below them is city radio engineer Bob Doble and, standing on roof is city employee Art Beadle. Aerial, erected yesterday, is 108 feet above ground. Windless day was required to do the job.

U.S. States Case

White Paper Lays Blame on Soviets

WASHINGTON, July 20 (CP)—The United States in an official White Paper marshaled evidence today that Russia along with the North Korean Communists was to blame for the Korean crisis.

Denouncing the invasion as a "brutal blow to the peace of the world," a 68-page step-by-step record contained charges that Moscow flouted its postwar agreements and defied the United Nations by creating and backing the North Korea regime.

TELLS PEOPLE

The State Department published the record with the explanation it had the responsibility for placing "full and accurate information" on the crisis before the American people and the world. Included were the texts of 101 documents.

The State Department summarized Russia's role in Korea in a narrative which related:

1. Russia at Potsdam and at the time of declaring war against Japan pledged that Korea "in due course" should become free and independent.

2. The 38th Parallel dividing line between North and South Korea was established only as a temporary expedient to avoid confusion in accepting the surrender of the Japanese. Russia quickly moved in troops and "arbitrarily" made the line a permanent division.

3. After agreeing at the Moscow Conference in late 1945 to help set up a provisional democratic govern-

Tornado Wrecks Home in Ohio

This home sprawls shattered around a utility pole where it was dashed by a tornado that damaged 300 homes in Lima, Ohio, Wednesday. Officials of the community of 50,000 estimated tornado damage there at $1,350,000. Another tornado hit a rural area 27 miles northwest of Lima, where damage is still unestimated. The high winds injured 30 persons, none seriously.

Tax Increases Seen as Result Of War in Asia

OTTAWA, July 20 (CP).—Taxes may jump next year as a result of Korean war.

A Government official said today that looks as a "real possibility" if Canada has to step deeper into the Korean conflict.

The official said he believed that if Canada's commitments were stabilized at the current level—three destroyers and eight North Stars—the costs could be met through the budgetary surplus expected to emerge at the end of the current fiscal year.

But, with the Government's decision to step up recruiting in the three fighting forces and expand Canada's armaments production, this would take more money than the surplus was expected to produce.

On top of this is the expectation that Canada will put more transport planes in the trans-Pacific airlift to meet the request of the United Nations for more aircraft to move supplies.

Finance Minister Douglas Abbott estimated in his budget a surplus of about $20,000,000, but it may reach $30,000,000.

Eventual cost for Canada's total participation in the battle in Korea could run well into the hundred millions.

Korean Briefs

LONDON, July 20 (AP).—Britain has ordered her Far Eastern fleet to stay neutral if Chinese Communists attack Formosa, an official source said today.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP).—The United States Marine Corps announced today it was calling all organized reserve ground units to active duty. Officials said these reserves totaled about 47,000 officers and enlisted men.

The navy summoned several air reserve units, said by officials to total 9,000 officers and 30,000 men. The army issued an alert to a number of regular army combat teams around the country to get ready to move to the Far East.

LAKE SUCCESS, July 20 (AP).—A United States spokesman said tonight the United States is pleased at the response to U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie's appeal to 52 U.N. members for aid in the Korean war effort.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, July 20 (AP).—The South African Cabinet decided today it is impractical for this country to give direct military aid in Korea.

Ambassador Sir David Kelly called on the Russian deputy foreign minister, Andrei A. Gromyko, tonight.

AN AMERICAN AIR BASE IN JAPAN, July 20 (INS).—It now seems almost certain today that the air force will send home the wives of American fighter pilots flying combat missions in the Korean war.

Morale is said to be taking a bad beating because some pilots fly home to Japan for dinner every night to find their wives filled with anxiety.

VANCOUVER, July 20 (CP).—The Korean war has added great strategic importance to construction of a natural gas pipeline from Alberta to the Pacific Coast and speed is imperative, the Vancouver Stock Exchange says in its monthly bulletin.

STOCKHOLM, July 20 (AP).—Sweden informed the United Nations today she is sending a field hospital to South Korea in response to Secretary-General Trygve Lie's appeal for assistance.

Belgium Recalls King Leopold Over Bitter Socialist Protests

BRUSSELS, July 20 (AP).—Parliament voted late today to restore King Leopold to the Belgian throne, opening the way for his immediate return from exile in Switzerland.

The legislators, in an atmosphere of bitterness, decided issues debated among Belgians for ten years, in war and in peace.

"This thing is not finished," growled Paul-Henri Spaak, Socialist former premier and leader of the anti-Leopold opposition. "Now it starts upon another stage."

SOCIALISTS THREATEN

The Socialists threatened non-co-operation, general strikes and other demonstrations against the 48-year-old monarch.

Socialists, almost all Liberals and Communists, who oppose the king, walked from the joint session of the House and Senate before the final test, which they knew they could not win. The walkout left the pro-Leopold Catholic Social Christian majority unopposed.

"You remain alone to carry out one of the gravest and most disastrous acts in our nation's history," Spaak warned the Social Christians just before the walkout.

REGENCY ENDED

The Social Christians then cast 199 affirmative votes, little more than half of Parliament's total membership, 387.

The six-year regency of Leopold's brother, Prince Charles, 46, was ended just before 5 p.m. As the vote was announced in Parliament, the flag flying over the regent's wing of the Royal Palace was hauled down.

King Leopold, who has been in hot water much of the time since he surrendered to the Germans after only 18 days of fighting in 1940, is expected to return this week. Prince Baudoin, Leopold's 18-year-old son, who is heir to the throne, will accompany his father.

Soviets Plan War Before '56, Declares Ex-Intelligence Chief

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP).—A former deputy chief of United States Naval Intelligence says the Russian Politburo has decided to move against the United States before 1956.

Retired Admiral Ellis S. Zacharias makes this assertion in a book, "Behind Closed Doors," published today (G. P. Putnam's Sons).

Zacharias said today that the Korean war, which began after he completed the book, is not the Russo-American conflict which is likely to materialize some time between the Summer of 1942 and the Autumn of 1956, but instead is "war by proxy."

NIGHT MEETING

Zacharias says the Russian High Command decided on war at a session of the Politburo that wound up at 5 a.m., January 28, 1949. He writes:

"This strange nocturnal drama was described in a special intelligence report, to which we gained access, by one of the men who were present—a young colonel of the Guards, staff member of Marshal Voroshilov's military sub-committee within the Politburo."

"This informant, according to Zacharias, was Colonel Khrushchev, who desired 'to escape somehow from the captivity of his momentous secret . . . to prevent it from doing the ruinous harm for which the plan had been specifically designed.'"

CROSSED LINE

The book relates that some months after the January meeting Khrushchev crossed the demarcation line in Berlin and surrendered to an intelligence officer in the British Zone.

"The U.S.S.R. is determined to occupy all positions from which a physical attack against Russia could be launched, without actually engaging in open hostilities," writes the admiral.

U.N. Told Canada Interested In International Korea Force

OTTAWA, July 20—Canada's interest—one officially called it "a sympathetic interest"—in a United Nations' international force for Korea was made known to Lake Success today as Ottawa moved into a period of expanded emphasis on defence.

Although the Government has no intention of taking the initiative for such a formation, it promptly raised the possibility that Cabinet will again find itself confronted with the toughest question of all arising from the Korean war—whether to send ground troops.

UNDER DISCUSSION

The idea of an international force is being discussed among the U.N. Secretariat, but so far in an inconclusive, informal way.

At the same time, these other developments emerged or were crystallizing as part of an accelerated defence program:

1. R.C.A.F. transport experts flew to Washington to work out details for integration of eight or more North Stars in the American Trans-Pacific airlift to Korea.

RECRUITING DRIVE

2. A big, new recruiting drive was launched for 6,000 to 8,000 regulars and as many reservists as the forces can get.

3. The staggering new American program prompted Ottawa anti-inflationists that Canadian industries will get many millions of dollars worth of war equipment orders, that an equivalent of the wartime, conti-

Ceremony Will Mark Opening Of Work Point Housing Units

A special ceremony will be held at Work Point Barracks married quarters at 1:30 a.m. today as 22 families move into the first of 75 new housing units.

Army men and their families will occupy 22 of the houses today.

Bombardier M. K. Craig and Mrs. Craig will be handed the keys to their house by Col. L. G. Clarke, O.B.E., director of Artillery, Army Headquarters, Ottawa.

Bdr. Craig is attached to the Royal Canadian School of Artillery at the camp.

The quarters, built by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, are situated on Peters street, between Lyle and Bewdley. Bdr. Craig's house is situated at 919 Wilchbury Avenue.

The houses vary in size from two to four bedrooms—the majority of the first 22 will have two or three bedrooms.

Accompanying Col. Clarke will be the Work Point Garrison commander, Lt.-Col. Arthur Ferron, E.D.

ARMCHAIR TRIP

For about half an hour yesterday, members of the Victoria Rotary Club were taken away from their offices and daily routines. They traveled along Highway 16, a trip that took them from Prince George in British Columbia's scenic Interior to Prince Rupert, colorful fishing port of the province's northern coastline.

The mental trip was prompted by the showing of a color film, covering the area, by Clarence Ferris, chief photographer of the British Columbia Travel Bureau. Thanks to Mr. Ferris were extended by new club president, George Duck on behalf of the club.

CHANGE BEACH PARTY

The Victoria Flying Club will hold its annual beach party at Island View Beach on Friday, July 28, and not tonight as previously announced, Frank Copley, president, said yesterday.

The affair is scheduled to get under way at 5 p.m. and will include dancing in the sand, hot dogs and a sing-song. For further information regarding transportation, members are advised to telephone David Filby, club instructor, at Patricia Bay airport.

INVITED TO MEET

Victoria was asked yesterday to send representatives to the annual convention of the Parks and Recreation Association to be held in Montreal, August 21 to 24.

The convention is to study recent developments in the parks and recreation fields.

MORE SUPPORT

Four more British Columbia municipalities have indicated that they will support the Victoria City Council resolution opposing the lagging of the municipal share of the 3 per cent sales tax for a specific purpose.

They are Vancouver, Kaslo, Qualicum and Alert Bay.

Vancouver stated in a letter to city officials that the matter should be discussed at the annual convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities to be held in Nelson in September.

It was stated that Vancouver delegates to the convention would be instructed to give favorable consideration to the Victoria resolution.

KLONDIKE NIGHT

More than 600 persons attended Cordova Bay Community Club's annual Klondike Night Wednesday.

Highlight of the entertainment, which included bingo and games of chance, was a floor-show featuring a can-can dance put on by women of the community centre.

Proceeds of the evening's entertainment, held at McMorran's Pavilion, will go toward construction of the new community hall.

Reeve Takes Action

Calls Emergency Session On Drought in Saanich

Reeve J. W. Casey has called an emergency meeting of Saanich Council for 8 p.m. today to discuss the municipality's serious water shortage.

The decision followed a deluge of telephone calls to the reeve from Saanich residents who complained of the lack of water following the recent easing of lawn-sprinkling restrictions.

Council Monday night decided to ease restrictions by allowing residents, on their legal watering day, to sprinkle their lawns and flower gardens at any time. A previous restriction made watering allowable only after 10 p.m.

Three Grass Blazes Make Firemen Hustle

Three grass fires had city and Saanich fire departments hustling yesterday afternoon but no damage was reported.

Saanich reported a fire at McKenna Avenue at 3:48 p.m., with the return set at 4:06 p.m. A pump truck took the call.

In the city, a fire at 1804 Blanchard and another at 1441 Clifford sent firemen out with a pump truck but the blazes were extinguished with no difficulty.

New Officers Appointed To Unit Here

Appointment of three officers to Victoria's 8th Anti-Aircraft Operations Unit, Royal Canadian Artillery, was announced yesterday by Maj. R. V. Parrett, officer commanding.

The officers are Capt. F. D. Nelson, from the 75th H.A.A. Regiment; Lieut. L. Lucas, from R.C.A.F. reserve of officers, and Officer Cadet D. J. Chorlton, recently promoted from the rank of sergeant.

Also announced was the promotion of 2nd Lieut. D. E. Welch to lieutenant. Lieut. Welch, a resident of Royal Oak, was commissioned in the University of British Columbia C.O.T.C.

The appointments are to cover vacancies created by the expansion of the local reserve unit, authorized earlier this year.

The operations unit will be trebled in size to allow technical training of additional officers, non-commissioned officers and tradesmen.

A two-week training course in radar, anti-aircraft plotting and communications will be held at Albert Head starting Sunday. The course is for reserve artillerymen.

Mayor Mails $42,027 City Gift Total To Help Manitoba Flood Relief Fund

Victoria citizens poured a total of $42,027 into the mayor's fund for Winnipeg-Manitoba Flood Relief.

A cheque for this amount was mailed yesterday by Mayor Percy George to Winnipeg's Mayor Garnet Coulter.

Victoria was the first city in Canada to institute a fund for the collection of donations for the relief of flood-stricken Manitoba citizens, soon after disaster struck that province last May. Mayor George recalled.

Following Victoria's action, scores of other Canadian communities followed suit and more than $7,000,000 was raised by voluntary subscription across Canada.

LETTER WITH GIFT

In a letter accompanying proceeds of the Victoria flood fund, Mayor George declared:

"The monies represented by the enclosed cheque have been contributed by individuals of every walk of life, from young people who sold soft drinks, held circuses and even contributed through their classrooms and entirely of their own free will, to elderly people in the twilight of life. Employees' groups of business and industrial houses, commercial organizations added their generous support while cultural and service clubs, through various types of shows, theatricals, dances, etc., helped tremendously. A great many of our sports organizations through benefit games and other means aided to swell the mayor's fund."

THANKS PAPERS

Mayor George paid special tribute to The Daily Colonist and The Times for the energy spent by the newspapers in publicizing the fund and in the operation of separate collection stations. The Daily Colonist yesterday turned over a cheque for $5,134.75, turned in at this office by readers of the paper.

"Our merchants, in their many diversified lines, contributed generously and visitors to our city were not slow to give their contributions through information booths set up in some of our stores," continued the mayor. "Our women's organizations came forward with many fine events which helped materially to swell the total."

SPLENDID SUPPORT

"It has been this splendid support by the people of every stratum of our community that gives me pride in the knowledge that the citizens of the capital city of British Columbia were not unkind to the dire necessity of their fellow men and women, many of whom were former neighbors, in a disaster-struck area," said the mayor. Mayor George expressed a wish for a full, speedy and healthful recovery for the people of Manitoba from one of the worst floods in Canadian history.

With Toll Bridges You Pay to Get In or Out

THE doleful picture of Vancouver as a metropolis surrounded by toll bridges where one pays to get in or out, which used to be painted in the Legislature in the not-so-long-ago, seems in a fair way towards realization if the Provincial Government continues its present policy of encouraging the erection of toll structures with blocked-off public revenues in private hands. If the new bridge over the Fraser at Rosedale is necessary the Province should have built it out of revenues, high enough in all conscience.

To have the bridge built by private endeavor and then sold back to the public little by little is an expensive way of doing it. What with the use of borrowed money, the public will likely pay for the equivalent of two bridges before it is done. There is, besides, the objectionable feature of quasi-Crown levies to be authorized by the Legislature—has it yet heard of the event?

but collected by somebody else. Of course adequate accounting can be used as a safeguard in that; but no amount of accounting will offset a wasteful means of doing a thing.

The more it is argued that the bridge at Rosedale is necessary the more sure it is that the Province should have provided it, or else waited until it had the funds in hand to do so. A current Budget of $105,000,000 and Loan Bills for nearly two-score millions more can hardly have left the Provincial Treasury so cramped that the capital carrying charges on $1,500,000 would have made much difference one way or the other.

On the part of many people there is a rooted objection to the farming out of levies or tolls in any form. Toll bridges do precisely that. Theatre, amusement, parking, gasoline and some other taxes make use of much the same principle in so far as collection goes. It is not a sound principle, and never will be.

Red Peace Petition Fraud Still Winning Dupes

NOTWITHSTANDING the fact that the so-called peace petition to the United Nations has been widely exposed for what it is, a piece of Soviet guile, people everywhere with no leanings towards Communism continue to be duped by it. Even Roman Catholic communities in Quebec rootedly opposed to Communism, as is their church as a whole, have now awakened to the realization that they have endorsed Communist propaganda. The mortification of some has been heightened by the fact that in all good faith they contributed money to a cause diametrically opposed to their faith.

The experience of these Quebec villages illustrates the folly and danger of signing any document, however laudable it may seem on the surface, without a clear understanding of its real meaning. This "peace" petition, with its origin in the Communist meeting in Stockholm last March, is so cleverly drawn as to have deceived millions of people on this continent into the belief that it is a genuine expression of a desire for restoration of world peace. Actually by evasion it is loaded on the side of Russia, cunningly masking pursuit of the Communist line. By its deceptive wording it would leave the Communists free to continue aggressions, yet block the Western world from employing its most effective weapon to stop them.

The petition has been exposed as a Communist-inspired fraud, and recent events show that its sponsors are losing no time in using it as a means to impede United Nations intervention in Korea. According to reports from Quebec, a statement accompanying lists of subscribing communities describes their support as "a serious and stern warning" to the Canadian Government against involvement. Thus the true purpose of the petition is made plain for well-meaning people who might otherwise be gulled into aligning themselves with the Communists.

Strengthening the Canadian Armed Forces

IT should scarcely have been necessary, but perhaps it was well to make clear that Canadian servicemen who may be called on to take part in the Korean conflict will do so as Canadians. They may be part of the United Nations punitive forces but nevertheless they belong to the Canadian army, navy or air force respectively, and the full wartime obligations of the state with regard to pensions, etc., come into being. With a recruiting campaign now in hand for all three services it is desirable there should be no doubts on this point.

The initial aim in strengthening the armed forces is modest enough. Existing regular force ceilings have been lifted but the sky has not been substituted as the limit. While no figures have been set, it is reported that some 8,000 extra men will meet present needs. In addition attempts will be made to bring reserve units up to more effective strengths. It will be surprising if the response is not more than ample, and if it is necessary to lower present admission standards in order to meet desired objectives.

Future expansion will depend on the development of the world situation, but meantime an added inducement to enlistment might lie in the limitation of emergency regular force service to one year. A short-term enlistment period might attract many a young man hesitant to jeopardize a civilian career by signing up for the regular and longer service terms. It remains to be seen how far such a step might be necessary, but it is an idea that is worth keeping in mind. The nation is not at war, and there is no immediate expectation of it so being, so that special considerations may be appropriate to current circumstances.

RE TAKING OATHS

Sir.—The Scottish form of oath (permissible in the Forces without question) and, I feel sure, provided for in the Criminal Code, is as follows—
—and this is not an affirmation but an oath—
Right hand raised but no Bible:

"I swear by Almighty God as I shall answer to God at the Great Day of Judgment, that the evidence I shall give before this court, shall be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

In this case, too, the witness utters the words of the oath, thus making it much more effective. Of course this cuts down the speed of the courts, but justice should be deliberate.

LIQUOR CONTROL LAWS

Sir.—All my life I have intended to visit Canada, because I love and admire Canadians and their country. Now I am here for the first time and you and your fair land have surpassed even my high expectations in all but one respect.

May I give you the views of an entirely unbiased observer (who incidentally, is not personally addicted to alcohol) on your liquor laws? Is there any rhyme or reason in the regulations governing the distribution of liquor here?

Even in England, burdened as it is now with rules and restrictions, there is as yet nothing as fantastic as a law which allows a man to soak for hours in an hotel beer parlor while forbidding him to take a glass of beer or wine with his meal in the adjoining restaurant of the same establishment, or to precede that meal by a modest cocktail; a law which drives him to drink secretly in his hotel bedroom instead of openly in a public room in the company of his fellow-men. If I had not been assured that such rules existed—that they were in fact law over a large proportion of Canada—I would never have credited that sane men could conceive them, sane men enforce them, or sane men submit to them.

If their object is to encourage drunkenness, they could hardly be bettered; what greater incentive to excessive drinking can be offered to a sober man than the sight of his neighbor swilling beer in a beer parlor, while his own glass is legally dry, or than the feel of a full bottle snuggling next to his heart, with liberty to empty it to the last drop, provided he retires to a hired private room to do so? Truly, "You are mad, my masters."

GOVERNMENT HOUSE

Sir.—With reference to Government House letters appearing in your columns, Mr. T. D. Pattullo's letter is an extremely intelligent one on the subject, which I think ought to be used as a guidance by the Provincial Government.

I am sorry to say I cannot agree with Mr. Ash. For this reason: Mr. Ash as a Prairie man forgets that what really should be done on the Prairies is to make the Provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba one provincial state, then it would be somewhere about the size of British Columbia, under a lieutenant-governor with a centralized Government House built to suit the people of the three Provinces.

I am one for letting Government House remain as pointed out in Mr. Pattullo's letter.

Noise of Battle

And all hours long, the town
Rings like a brass in a cave
That is wounded there
And like to drown
While days rush, wave after wave
On its lair.

An invisible woe unseals
The flood, so it passes beyond
All bounds: the great old city
Recumbent roars as it feels
The foamy paw of the pond
Reach from immensity.

But all that it can do
Now, as the tide rises,
Is to listen and hear the grim
Waves crash like thunder through
The splintered streets, hear noises
Roll hollow in the interim.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sailing
... of cabbages and kings."
By TOM TAYLOR

FOR their own sakes I hope American G.I.'s in Korea don't read last week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post. When you're fighting against odds in men and equipment it's not comforting to be told you don't belong to the best army in the world—and have it rubbed in by the words, "not by a damn sight."

Probably only an American himself would dare to say this in public print, and the man who does so, Hanson W. Baldwin, is recognized to be a leading U.S. military writer. His purpose, apparently, is to reduce what he calls the "put-up ego" of his countrymen, who think in Hollywood adjectives and deem themselves so "supercolossal" the rest of the world is nowhere by comparison. At this precise moment some of the gilt is being rubbed off the gingerbread, but Baldwin's article, although probably written before Korea exploded, might nevertheless be salutary.

All armies, of course, think they are the best in the world. If they didn't there might never be any wars. On the other hand, even allowing the points Baldwin makes, he would scarcely want G.I.'s not to have a good opinion of themselves. A feeling of inferiority wouldn't add to morale.

According to this well-known military critic there were few instances during the war where American forces beat the enemy on even terms, or even held their own. Generally speaking victory came to U.S. troops only when they had a marked superiority in numbers and equipment. Not necessarily the best equipment, but more of it.

As regards weapons Baldwin is equally caustic. American tanks, guns, torpedoes, to mention only three, lagged behind their German and Japanese counterparts in power and effectiveness. American inventiveness did not keep pace with German sea mines and submarine snorkels, Italian armorplate for anti-aircraft guns, German jet propulsion, British radar, Russian field rockets. It was scientists of other nations who made the atom bomb possible.

His list is long and, no doubt, will be an eye-opener to readers of the Saturday Evening Post. When they note the present employment of huge Russian tanks in Korea, however, they are bound to appreciate the significance of his remarks.

Generals fare no better at Baldwin's hands. There was no American general who matched Rommel, he says, although this view could well be debated. American admirals and airmen were good, but not the "best."

He does concede one quality inherent in Western nations, and it is one that affects the forces of all democratic countries. American soldiers, he implies, don't like to die. They go into battle hoping they'll come out alive. One hates to think of this as a fault, even if it does mean that the will to fight is not so strong as it is with a Kamikaze pilot.

It is all very well to talk about Thermopylae, where the Greeks died to the last man, and cite the Shinto and Wagnerian virtues of Japanese and German fanatics and the Oriental fatalism of Russian armies, but Westerners have not been conditioned to believe the same of life is to end in battle. It may be quaint, but even in war they prefer to keep on living if they can.

Baldwin admits this, but he misses a conclusion to be drawn from it, which is that because they hold life in greater value Americans, like other Western forces, will probably always have to win through sheer force of numbers. If not of men then of equipment—even if it is not the "best."

There is a distinct disadvantage, as the Korean situation shows, in being too intelligent to want to go to war. It means that you are never ready for war. But it looks as though this can't be helped.

Inside Stalin's Hideout

Last of three articles by an escaped Soviet architect who sketched parts of the interior of Stalin's home.

By IGOR MOLTYANOV
North American Newspaper Alliance

COPENHAGEN.—About 2 o'clock every afternoon, the Russian dictator takes his daily walk in the subtropical garden of Nadesjda. Usually he takes some pieces of bread with him for the birds. His favorite recreation is to feed the swans and ducks crowding an artificial pond. His special sympathy belongs to two Australian black swans with red bills: his name is Peter and hers Katerina.

About 5 p.m. Stalin has a glass of tea with a cracker and some fruit. His menu is arranged by the physicians. Afterward, if he is alone, he goes to his real study and starts to work, keeping if possible, the windows open. When he is having guests he usually talks with them until dinner. It happens also that on such occasions he takes a nap without bothering about the guests.

Dinner is served at 8 o'clock and lasts one hour. The dictator does not hurry at the table and drinks slowly the amount of red wine allowed by the physicians. Three times a week he is permitted to have a glass of the exquisite Caucasian brandy that is his favorite drink.

At about 10:30 at night Stalin begins to work seriously at his desk. You will commit an error if you assume that he then occupies himself with the current affairs of the state. He leaves these matters to Molotov, Malenkov and Beriya. It happens often that he even refuses to talk to them, but wants them to make the decisions themselves if he does not regard the matter as important enough for himself to decide upon.

His working time Stalin devotes mainly to the completion of his political papers dealing with the history of the party and of Lenin and to his own role therein. He pays special attention to all details concerning his and Lenin's mutual personal relations and their co-operation within the party. Obviously he feels strongly the call to complete his work before death. He believes that it would be a great misfortune to the world if he should not get enough time for it.

He is afraid of death mainly because it might interrupt his work. He often asks the physicians how many years are left to him. The physicians usually answer gently that there are good prospects for at least ten years. It seems, however, that Stalin does not believe them, although he hopes for some three or four years more. He is a most obedient patient and only for very special reasons has he ever neglected the prescriptions of the physicians.

As you can see from this story, Stalin's life is simple and uncomplicated and runs smoothly like the life of a monk in one of those splendid convents of the Middle Ages. It is difficult to remember that he is the absolute ruler of 800,000,000 people, more than one-third of the inhabitants of the world. His loneliness and his tendency to isolate himself are increased every year. After the latest heart attack, at the turn of 1949-50, he withdrew almost entirely from official life.

It is no secret at Nadesjda that one of his two stand-ins appears in his place on many ceremonial occasions in Moscow. But it did never happen hitherto that one of them took his place when important talks with foreign statesmen were going on.

Observation Car

BARBER Ben put on his coat and hat and picked up a towel and bathing suit when he was about to leave the shop on a hot afternoon. "What hotel name does that towel bear?" the boss of the shop asked. "None. I have not taken my holiday yet," Ben chuckled. "Are you going swimming?" Bill, the Broad Street barber, asked. "A person does not take a bathing suit and towel to mow the lawn," Ben retorted. "Why not take a bath at home?" Bill inquired. "Since you seem to know so little, swimming is wonderful exercise and also makes a person more graceful," Ben answered. "Did you ever take a good look at a duck?" Bill asked. "I read an interesting article last night in which a scientist said the human race may be twice as old as we think it is," a friend said to the Keating Squire. "Perhaps the human race is only half as old as we think it is, which explains why human beings have not learned to live without wars," the squire commented. "Remember not long ago some bright individual talked about producing silent popcorn to spare the ears of picture show patrons?" a customer said to Tobacconist Martin. "Why not go a step farther and produce silent celery for use at banquets?" Martin replied. "From The Ottawa Journal: 'Experts agree that lack of simple courtesy among drivers has a great deal to do with traffic accidents. The only way the law can teach courtesy is by penalties when a regulation is broken, and the offender is detected, which lets a vast amount of discourtesy go unpunished.' ... Some newly-married couples have to live with their in-laws. Bachelors can be just as bored from having to live with themselves. ... Epictetus wrote: 'We do not choose our own parts in life, and have nothing to do with those parts.' Our duty is confined to playing them well."

Repeated Aggression Could Force Red Issue

Interpreting the News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
A.P. News Analyst

Just one more Communist outbreak such as that in Korea will raise the question of whether the West should seek an immediate showdown with Russia.

Korea has provided a surprising disclosure of how much Western effort can be sucked in by such relatively small actions.

Consideration of the additional trouble that might be caused by Communist moves in Indo-China, the Balkans or elsewhere already causes people to wonder what happens if Russia is able to sit back with her military strength intact while American and Allied forces are scattered all over the lot against the satellites.

BALKAN RUMORS

There have been all sorts of reports from the Balkans. International commercial circles in New York have been full of rumors about troop movements and even invasions. The United Nations Balkan committee issued a direct warning of possible trouble.

Similar reports have concerned Iran. These have discounted the fact that Russia has no satellite army to do the job there. The Shah, however, has felt able only this week to defy Russian claims to international rights under an old treaty.

INDO-CHINA THREAT

Chinese Communist activities on the Indo-China border have led some inside observers to calculate that the greatest danger of the moment lies in that area. They include Burma as another possible objective.

President Truman makes it clear that the United States intends to develop ample power to handle the little wars as well as to meet whatever timetable Russia has for herself.

The American program, the President confidently expects, will be paralleled by a greater Allied preparedness and pooling of strength. Part of this is expected to be worked out at a meeting of the North Atlantic Council in London next week.

Air Crash Suit Dismissed; No Negligence

VANCOUVER, July 20 (CP).—A $50,000 suit launched against Queen Charlotte Air Lines by the MacDonald Aviation Co. Ltd. of Edmonton was dismissed today in British Columbia Supreme Court.

The court case was the aftermath of a plane crash August 11, 1948, in British Columbia which took the lives of Walter Britland, the pilot, and Kenneth Weaver, a fisheries inspector.

The aircraft was operated by Queen Charlotte Air Lines, which had rented it from the Edmonton firm for fisheries patrol work.

MacDonald Aviation asked $3,762 as the balance of rent owed; $2,542 in insurance premiums, and $3,000 as the difference between insurance collected and the value of the aircraft.

Mr. Justice J. M. Coody, in dismissing the suit, said there had been no negligence in the British Columbia firm's operation of the plane and the accident terminated the contract.

Harry Gold Pleads Guilty To Charges of Espionage

PHILADELPHIA, July 20 (AP).—Harry Gold pleaded guilty to espionage charges today and was committed to prison to await sentencing.

He could receive the death penalty for turning over United States atomic secrets to Russia. But that is considered unlikely.

The short, stubby research chemist stood stiffly before the bar to hear two indictments accusing him of conspiracy to commit espionage.

age and of 11 overt acts of transmitting information to a potential enemy. Gold, unmarried 39-year-old Philadelphia, admitted he acted as go-between in delivering secrets to Dr. Klaus Fuchs, German-born British scientist and convicted spy.

HALF-HOUR HEARING

When the 30-minute hearing was completed, United States District Judge James P. McGraney announced that "for the record, Gold stands committed."

The judge delayed sentencing until an investigation of Gold's background is completed. Court sources said the inquiry may last until September.

The judge admitted he does not know what sentence to impose. He asked United States Attorney Gerald A. Gleason to "have the Government make a recommendation."

Gold was the first of four United States citizens to be accused of delivering secrets to the Russians. The others, Alfred Dean Slack, 44, Syracuse, N.Y.; David Greenglass, 28, and Julius Rosenberg, 32, both of New York, have not yet pleaded to Government charges.

Car Needed More Than Safety Belt

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 20 (AP).—

"There was a hole in the front seat of the car big enough for a person to fall through," a policeman told the court.

Owner Wade Chew replied that front-seat passengers were "strapped in with a safety belt."

Judge James B. McKenna then ordered a further check of the automobile.

Chew was charged with driving with defective brakes, no windshield wiper, no lights, no bumper, no rear fenders, no windows and three doors tied together.

Paradoxical Achievement

Remarkable Progress Claimed In French Postwar Recovery

PARIS, July 20 (Reuters).—France during the last five years has achieved an economic and financial recovery more extensive than that won during the two decades following the Great War, official statistics just published disclose.

The statistics were issued during the recent cabinet crises, when two governments fell within a week and at a time when a major political crisis loomed.

REAL PROGRESS

The achievement of real progress amid apparent chaos is the paradox of French recovery.

In fact, Robert Buron, who, when he issued his report on French economic recovery, was Secretary of State for Economic Affairs, said:

"France's financial recovery now is an established fact."

In his report, Buron outlined French economic history since 1945. Buron said the country's recovery would have been impossible without lend-lease material and later aid under the Marshall Plan.

Full employment had been practically maintained since the liberation and production last year caught up with pre-war figures. Investments in the modernization of industry were regulated and priorities determined by the Monnet Plan, a five-year schedule adopted in 1947 and aimed at making France independent of American aid when the Marshall Plan ends in 1952.

EXPORTS SOAR

By 1948, French industries were supplying the colonies and exports were rising rapidly.

By 1949, French seaports were handling more than their pre-war quantity of traffic.

The main blot now remaining on the page of France's post-war history is, Buron added, the housing shortage. Its solution is a first necessity for raising the general standard of living in France, which is still too low, he said.

Discoveries to aid cancer treatment will be one of the main goals of research to go on in the institute's newly-completed new quarters.

A year's "running-in" period comes first, the spokesman said, to get researchers accustomed to radioactivity. Actual therapeutic treatment will come two years later.

Six or eight doctors will work with materials from the Chalk River, Ont., plant, studying the circulatory system, heart and kidneys of animals during initial operation.

Persons requiring this type of treatment currently go either East or to California.

Dr. F. F. Felsted, whose planning will set the pattern for research, has spent the last three years visiting atomic centres throughout North America. He is in England now.

U.K. to Place Second Newsprint Order in Canada Following Reports of 'Precarious' Stock in Britain

LONDON, July 20 (CP).—The Government announced today it has decided to buy 37,500 long tons of Canadian newsprint during the second half of 1951. A similar order for the first half of 1951 was disclosed earlier.

Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, attached one string to the House of Commons announcement—he said the contracts must be placed for delivery before the end of 1951.

The Government decision was not unexpected. Wilson told the press this week that he was discussing with the treasury the possibility of making more dollars available for Canadian newsprint.

The announcement followed a statement early this week by the newsprint supply company, which allocates supplies to British newspapers, that stocks for 1951 are highly precarious and uncertain.

Because of the scarcity, most newspapers reverted July 2 to six pages daily from an average of seven. The opposition press and Parliament contended that the Government was deliberately restricting supplies in an effort to muzzle newspapers.

The second Commons debate in two weeks on newsprint supplies was scheduled for next Thursday. Earlier this week Conservative members charged that the Government was remiss in not giving the newsprint a proper place among priorities.

DECREASE

In 1948 and 1949 Britain imported 100,000 tons of newsprint from Canada but amounts have decreased since the dollar crisis. The United States imports about 90 per cent of Canada's newsprint supply.

Wilson told Parliament today that

Prime Minister Robert Menzies of Australia during his present visit to Britain has pressed the British Government to supply more newsprint to Australia.

Licenses would be permitted for the export of about 75,000 tons of newsprint to Australia compared with an average of 11,500 tons during the three years 1947-49.

Present size of British papers should be maintained through 1951, depending on the amount of newsprint that can be bought from non-dollar countries.

When asked for assurance that the Government intends to stand by the most recent contracts, Wilson replied:

INDIA SHUFFLE

BOMBAY, India, July 20 (AP).—India's Communist party said yesterday it has staged a shake-up in which its general secretary was fired and its Politburo made over. Realigning itself to mirror the Chinese Communist party, it removed General Secretary B. T. Ranadive and replaced him with Rajewar Rao who is leading a peasant insurrection in Hyderabad State, a communist said. The party is relatively small.

"Contracts must first be effective. Twice this year the Government has made available dollars for acquisition of newsprint from Canada, but so far it was not possible to place the contracts."

"The request was made only last week that dollars should be allocated and they have been allocated."

Former Officers of Navy Being Asked About Volunteering for Early Recall

A number of former officers with the Royal Canadian Navy are wondering what the immediate future has in store for them.

Yesterday it was learned that a considerable number of such men in the Greater Victoria area have recently received communications from Naval Headquarters in Ottawa in which they are asked whether or not they would volunteer for an "early recall."

The former naval officers are being asked for their full names and addresses, specialist qualifications last held, degrees obtained since demobilization, whether "in their own opinion" they are fit for general service, shore service or home shore service; their present civilian occupation, and if they would volunteer for an early recall "should there be a need for officers prior to a general mobilization."

The men have been asked to fill out the question form and send it to the Naval Secretary at Ottawa.

"SITUATION VAGUE"

A large number of recipients of the query are wondering what, if any, bearing such a recall would have on their present employment. One former naval officer is reported as saying: "The situation remains rather vague. We would like some clarification from the authorities."

All ex-servicemen of the area are keeping a close watch on developments, but recruiting in the city since the Korean war started has not boomed noticeably.

Many former R.C.A.F. personnel never were actually discharged from that force, merely transferred to an inactive reserve.

Men in active reserve units are subject to call. Only the army and navy have such reserve units here. For some time past former airmen, however, have been pressing for establishment of an auxiliary squadron for this area.

RECRUITING DRIVE

The Department of National Defence yesterday commenced a nation-wide recruiting campaign through newspaper advertisements which appeared in papers across Canada. It is too early, it is reported locally, to determine what response will be given to this initial recruiting effort. Through the recruiting it is hoped to add at least 8,000 men to the Dominion's armed forces.

TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Delegates of A.P. of L. unions, which are included in the Victoria

Joint Shoppers Council, and representatives of Yarrow's Limited will meet informally in the Labor Hall, Broughton Street, at 8 o'clock tonight in an attempt to settle current labor problems.

W. A. Barclay, paymaster at Yarrow's, will act as chairman of the meeting. Among demands listed by unions are wage increases from 15 to 25 cents an hour, double time for all overtime, two weeks' holidays with pay for all workers, and nine statutory holidays instead of three.

GUAYANA INBOUND

The Johnson Line motorship Guayana is due in Vancouver next Wednesday inbound from the Scandinavian countries and the Continent. Subsequent calls will be made at Seattle, July 30, and Portland, July 31.

TO BE COMMODORE

Officials of Cunard Steamship Co. have announced that Capt. G. E. Cove has been appointed commodore of the company's fleet, succeeding Commodore C. M. Ford, C.B.E., R.D., R.N.R., who will retire at the end of this month.

Capt. Cove is senior captain in the company's service, and is commanding officer of the Queen Elizabeth. He joined the line in January of 1914 and has served in many famous ships of the company.

YACHT CLUB PICNIC

Annual picnic of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club will be held Sunday on Chatham Island, reports John Wallace, chairman of the yachting fraternity's publicity group. All members and their children have been invited, and a full program of sports, games and refreshments has been arranged.

Those wishing transportation to Chatham Island are asked to be at the Cadboro Bay clubhouse between 1 and 3 p.m.

ON TUNA SURVEY

John N. Cobb, exploratory vessel of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, currently on a tuna survey, is scheduled to operate in a northerly direction as far as Cape Flattery, the U.S. service reports. The vessel was 60 miles west of Grass Harbor late last week, and in the previous few days had landed 34 tuna in the area being patrolled. The fish were large, weighing up to 30 pounds, and averaging about 20 pounds. Water temperatures where the fish were caught ranged about 59 degrees.

Tuna caught by the exploratory craft are used for collection of important data regarding their species, then tagged and released.

SALMON PACK UP

British Columbia's salmon pack to date totals 139,332 cases of 48 pounds each, according to a report from the chief supervisor of fisheries. The total embraces commercial fishing districts Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

The pack is as follows: Hockeye, 112,705; springs, 2,823; steelheads, 865; bluebacks, 5,966; coho, 12,400; pinks, 3,258; and chums, 1,964.

The current total pack represents a major increase over that for the corresponding period of last year, when the figure was 91,567 cases.

SEASON OPENS SOON

Shipping men said yesterday at Montreal that they expect the Hudson Bay shipping season to open soon after July 26.

Eight ships are due to carry 5,000-6,000 bushels of grain over the North-east route from Churchill, Man.

First ocean vessel to arrive there will be the Montreal-owned Tithape which left the United Kingdom early this month. Other vessels are the Warworth, Mont Santra, Ramel, Itallera, Durham Trader and Anunciada.

All are scheduled to make two trips each during the two-month season. Another vessel, the Begonia, will make one trip.

Legion Meeting Voices Alarm Over Price Rises

Alarm over the continued increases in the cost of foodstuffs was voiced by Equimait Branch 172 of the Canadian Legion at its general meeting, Wednesday.

The officials announced that, through the proper channels, it will urge the Government to start some control over food prices.

The members were informed at the meeting that food prices are continuing to rise, sugar having had two advances this month, one of 25 cents per 100 pounds and another of 15 cents. Coffee also has taken two serious increases within the month, members were told.

The increases, the members agreed, caused considerable hardship to the family budget.

Imperial and Allied veterans were urged to file their applications for the war veterans allowance in order to obtain the allowance retroactively. Claims must be filed before July 31.

A protest against amendments to the Veterans' Charter "no longer being supplied to ex-servicemen's organizations" will be forwarded through Legion channels.

A diamond stickpin was donated by a member of the branch. The proceeds from the disposition of the pin will go to the branch building fund.

Tonight the branch will hold a dance starting at 9 p.m. Count de la Hite will entertain with his recording machine. Tomorrow night the branch will hold an invitation smoker.

Wide Variety Spices Program At Victoria Playgrounds Today

A parade, races, bicycle contests and various other events will all be part of a special program at the supervised playgrounds at Beacon Hill and Central Parks today.

Gordon Hartley, head playground supervisor, announced last night the program would start at Beacon Hill Park at 10 a.m. and at Central Park at 2 p.m.

All kinds of prizes will be competed for by the children, including grandstand passes to a Victoria Athletic home game.

A float and a musical play sponsored by the local Optimist Club will feature the program.

Mr. Hartley said that tennis instruction classes have been averaged.

Ball Went Foul, Jimmie Acted Fair

JIMMIE Dong, 721 Discovery Street, 12 years old, set a fine example for other young ball players yesterday—the unlucky ones anyway.

Jimmie was at bat on the tiny ball diamond in the Market Yards. The ball was thrown and Jimmie connected for a long foul ball—right through a fireman's car window.

He hesitated for a moment. Then, accompanied by eight other young Chinese, he went to the police station and told his troubles to the desk sergeant.

Jimmie thought he "might get ten years" but it is understood he won't even have to replace the window.

Order Reserve Of Vaccine For Poultry

Although no new outbreaks of Newcastle disease have been reported on Vancouver Island since July 6, Government officials have ordered another shipment of vaccine as a precautionary measure. It was learned here last night.

Dr. F. W. B. Smith, the Federal health and animals division's chief veterinary inspector at Vancouver, said he anticipates no further outbreak but "we want to be ready should it arise."

He added that about 12 health division men have been administering the vaccine to flocks throughout the Fraser Valley for the last week.

The virus disease, which raged unchecked for some weeks, caused damage estimated at $2,000,000 to British Columbia flocks.

The last outbreak reported on the island was at Goldstream, where 2,700 turkeys, infected with the disease, were slaughtered by Government officials.

Highland Games Here on July 29 Promise Pipes, Sports, Kilts, Color

Macdonald Park will resound to the swish of kilts and the skirl of pipes as the colorful Highland Games get under way at 9 a.m. Saturday, July 29.

The games will take on an international flavor. Similar games will be held in Vancouver, August 5, and in Seattle on August 12.

Thus will be determined the Pacific Coast champions in Highland dancing and piping in the professional classes. Many visitors are expected from Vancouver and Seattle next Saturday.

Merchants have recognized the week of July 24 to 29 as Tartan Week. Many stores and establishments will display Scottish clan tartans of every description.

Numerous entries have already been received, and the games are expected to provide more entertainment and color than ever before.

John Grant, president of the Victoria Highland Games Association, said yesterday that surplus funds have been used each year to purchase better prizes.

Many Scots believe the friendly rivalry of the games, combined with pageantry and pride of racial origin, gives the event a distinction matched by no other competition.

The games will be officially opened at 3 p.m. and will continue until late in the evening.

Peace Group Rebuffed By Labor

The Victoria Peace Council got the back of labor's hand Wednesday night.

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council voted unanimously against an affiliation with the group after a two-man committee reported that they found "kindly, elderly ladies heading up the Peace Council who seem unaware of political strings being pulled behind their backs."

Committee members were Percy Raymer and Harold Thayer.

REPRESENTATION

Committeeman Thayer said the Peace Council here did not warrant the support of labor organizations in the district and added that he found the Labor Progressive Party well represented at a recent Peace Council meeting he attended.

The committee had been appointed at a previous meeting to look into the organization of the peace group before the labor council acted on an invitation to join the body.

Make Fresher-tasting Jam this Easy, Short-boil Way

Saves 3/4 of your Time. Gives 50% More Jam from your fruit. ... Sure Results

For sparkling jams with the delicious flavor and color of fresh fruit, try this short-boil method with CERTO.

CERTO is fruit pectin — the natural jellifying substance in fruit — extracted and concentrated for better, surer jam and jelly making. These 5 points, typical of CERTO recipes, explain why CERTO is such a boon.

"CERTO" is a trade-mark owned by General Foods, Ltd.

FOLLOW THE RECIPES EXACTLY—

With CERTO you get 78 kitchen-tested recipes because chem-tested fruits need different handling. Be sure to follow EXACTLY the simple instructions for the fruit you are using. You get CERTO at your grocer's.

Look for Book of 78 Tested Recipes under the Label

Point 1 ONE-MINUTE BOIL
CERTO recipes need only a ONE-MINUTE full rolling boil. Right there you save 3/4 of the time needed for old-fashioned long-boiling... not to mention the hot, tiring work!

Point 2 2 lbs. FULLY RIPE FRUIT
You use RIPE fruit at the peak of luscious taste and color... NOT the under-ripe fruit called for in long-boil recipes. The boil is so short it does not dull the color or spoil the fresh-fruit taste. They stay right in your jams.

Point 3 3 lbs. OF SUGAR
A pound of jam made with CERTO contains no more sugar than a pound made the old, long-boil way.

Point 4 4 OZS. OF CERTO
Adding a half bottle (4 ozs.) of CERTO ensures the correct ratio of fruit pectin to fruit and sugar for a perfect set. CERTO removes the uncertain element from jam making... helps all fruits to jelly perfectly.

Point 5 5 lbs. OF JAM
You! An average of 5 lbs. of jam instead of about 2 lbs. the long-boil way! In the short CERTO boil practically no juice wastes away in steam as it does in long boiling. You average 50% more jam from the same amount of fruit.

Conflict in Asia Brings Epidemic of War Movies

HEARD IN HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD, July 20 (INS).—The Korean situation is responsible for an epidemic of war movies. "Wings Over the South Pacific," described as a tribute to the U.S. Air Force B-29, goes before the cameras at Republic with John Wayne, John Carroll, Rod Cameron, Forrest Tucker and William Ching. There is only one girl and she'll be chosen later.

Papa Herbert Yates has registered the title, and has the promise of Defence Secretary Louis Johnson's office and the U.S. Air Force to co-operate fully. In other words, this is a sort of glorified propaganda film so the world can see what a great job the B-29's did in the World War and what they are doing again to Red invaders in South Korea.

MAGAZINE STORY
A few weeks after Eddie Buzzell married Lorraine Miller, she brought him a Cosmopolitan Magazine story called "Third Girl from the Right" to read.

"I'm crazy about that story," she told Eddie, "and I wish you'd buy it."

At that time Eddie had no idea that the author of the story, Robert Carson, was his next-door neighbour, but he subsequently met Carson. But, before he had a chance to buy it, Columbia sent Carson a cheque for the film rights.

Now, the happy sequel is that Eddie will not only direct the Cosmopolitan story, he gets it as his first producing job.

WELL FOUNDED
Merle Oberon, in Paris, admits that there was good foundation for the rumor about her and the Earl of Beatty. They were together constantly and they were interested in each other, but it's all cold now.

Sometimes I wonder if Merle is refusing to let herself find happiness. The death of Count Georges Clauel, before her very eyes in an airplane, was such a shock to her. I am told she feels there is a strong spiritual bond between her and Georges.

The Earl of Beatty is the son of the famous Admiral David Beatty of the Great War, and his mother was Marshall Field's daughter.

After the customers left Mei Tume took over the piano and he and Susan Hayward gave an impromptu song recital. Jess Barker was among the applauders.

Helen Hayes, lucky girl, will spend a month in Ireland. Kent Smith, her co-star in "Wisteria Trees," will spend his vacation in Long Island.

Bess Meredyth's son, Jack Lucas, planes out to meet his boss, Hal Wallis, in London. Jack is writing a story and he goes all that way for a conference.

Donald Zeely, the British textile man who followed Peggy Ryan to this country, was so frightened by stories of his romance with Peggy in the papers, that when their plane arrived in New York he wouldn't get out. He left immediately for Washington and now has reservations at the Thunderbird Ranch in Las Vegas. Peggy will be there at the same time.

At Ciro's, applauding Rosalind Courtwright's farewell appearance were Jane Nigh and Jim McNamara. He's the ex-husband of Evelyn Haver, June's sister.

"So I go to my room," said Miss Mitel, repeating the statement once more to make her intentions quite clear. With a symbolic action she cast off the creponne apron she had been wearing. "Good night, Miss Blacklock. Perhaps in the morning, you may not be alive. So in case that is so, I say good-by."

She departed abruptly and the door, with its usual gentle little whine, closed softly after her.

Julia got up.

"I'll see to dinner," she said in a matter of fact way. "Rather a good arrangement—less embarrassing for you all than having me sit down at table with you. Patrick (since he's constituted himself your protector, Aunt Letty) had better taste every dish first. I don't want to be accused of poisoning you on top of everything else."

So Julia had cooked and served a really excellent meal.

Phillipa had come out to the kitchen with an offer of assistance but Julia had said firmly that she didn't want any help.

"Julia, there's something I want to say—"

"This is no time for girlish confidences," said Julia firmly. "Go on back to the dining-room, Phillipa."

Now dinner was over and they were in the drawing room with coffee on the small table by the fire—and nobody seemed to have anything to say. They were waiting—that was all.

At 8:30 Inspector Craddock rang up.

"I shall be with you in about a quarter of an hour's time," he announced. "I'm bringing Colonel and Mrs. Eastbrook and Mrs. Swettenham and her son with me."

"But really, Inspector... I can't cope with people tonight—"

Miss Blacklock's voice sounded as though she were at the end of her tether.

"I know how you feel, Miss Blacklock. I'm sorry. But this is urgent."

"Have you found Miss Marple?"

"No," said the Inspector and rang off.

Julia took the coffee tray out to the kitchen where, to her surprise, she found Miss Mitel contemplating the piled up dishes and plates by the sink.

Miss Mitel burst into a torrent of words.

"See what you do in my so nice kitchen! That frying pan—only, only for omelette do I use it! And you, what have you used it for?"

"Frying omelette."

"Ruined—ruined. It will have now to be washed and never—never do I wash my omelette pan. I rub it carefully over with a greasy newspaper, that is all. And this saucepan here that you have used—that one, I use him only for milk."

"Well, I don't know what pans you use for what," said Julia crossly. "You chose to go to bed and why on earth you've chosen to get up again, I can't imagine. Go away again and leave me to wash up in peace."

"No, I will not let you use my kitchen."

"Oh, Miss Mitel, you are impossible!"

Julia stalked angrily out of the kitchen and at that moment the door bell rang.

"I do not go to the door," Miss Mitel called from the kitchen. Julia muttered an impolite Continental ex-

South thought for several minutes before making his grand slam bid, but he apparently concluded that his own tremendous number of winners made the effort justifiable.

This was scarcely true—North could have an excellent two no trump without the precise cards South needed—but in this case, South was lucky.

West banged down the diamond ace, and was not pleased when South ruffed! South, on the other hand, was not too pleased either.

Who had the king of trumps? That question was soon answered satisfactorily when South entered dummy with a heart and pushed the spade queen through East, but West's failure to follow suit was something to think about.

Declarer took another trump finesse—East having played low, naturally, on the queen—and then returned again to dummy, this time with a club. South led and ruffed the diamond ten, shortening his trumps to only more than East had, then led another heart to dummy and ruffed another diamond.

Now that he had sufficiently reduced his own trump length, South only had to be careful with his sequence of plays. He led a second club to dummy and returned the last high diamond. It did not matter whether East ruffed this trick or discarded a heart—South "had him." Actually, East discarded. Thereupon South threw off his own last club and then led dummy's good club. If East ruffed, South would over-ruff, draw East's last trump and cash the heart king, and when East chose to discard again, South discarded the heart king. This left

East, West Share Golf Wins Equally

Vancouver-Man, Edmontonian Advance
To Amateur Semi-Final in Saskatoon

SASKATOON GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB, July 20.—The East moved off with the West today in the quarter finals of the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship and a quartet of golfers who have never before reached the semi-final will go into action tomorrow.

In today's play over a wind-swept course the results ran pretty close to form aided by a bit of second-guessing.

Nick Westlock of Windsor, Ont. won as expected, defeating Hugh Morrison of Vancouver, 4 and 3, firing par for the distance.

Bill Mathewson, the 21-year-old threat from Vancouver, who may be the man against Westlock in the final Saturday, had an easy time with Don Doe of Granby, Que. winning 6 and 4.

Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., the East's 21-year-old senior champion, didn't have things as easy with the veteran Allan Boes of Winnipeg, but came in with a 4 and 2 victory.

CLOSEST MATCH

The closest match of all ended in a 2 and 1 victory for 30-year-old Vern Mohs of Edmonton over 19-year-old Bob Hall of Montreal, last year's junior.

The set-up for tomorrow's 36-hole semi-final is a continuation of the East-West battle. It's Mohs against Westlock, with the odds prohibitive against the Edmonton golfer, and Mathewson against Kesselring, the match that will likely prove the all-star attraction between two former junior titlists.

Westlock at 32 is the oldest among the semi-finalists. He has a record of sparkling golf achievements and came west after winning the Ontario amateur title.

Against Morrison today, he was seldom in difficulty and lost only one hole. That came about in peculiar fashion as the ninth when Morrison drove into the woods, played a provisional ball and was still down in a par four.

Westlock's second shot went over the green and he needed a five to get down.

PLAYS BEST GOLF

Mathewson played the best golf of the day. He was two under par for the 14 holes it took him to defeat Doe, who floundered badly on the opening nine and lost four of the first five holes.

Boes was away to a poor start against Kesselring with two poor tee shots that cost him holes. He was three down at the end of the sixth but got two back before making the turn. Jerry finally ended the match with an eagle three on the 18th.

Hall played erratically at times and failed to take advantage of Mohs' mistakes. He went one up at the third but lost the fourth and fighting from behind practically all the way, he was far out of line on his tee and second shots at the fourth and at the ninth drove his second into a trap when he had Mohs at his mercy, with Mohs in deep rough far back and to the left. Hall managed to get even on the back nine, but lost the 14th when he went into a bunker and the 18th when he got into the woods.

Silverberg Junior Titlist

SASKATOON GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB, July 20 (CP).—Doug Silverberg, who plays on oil-and-gas "greens" at his home club in Red Deer, Alta., today defeated Laurie Roland of Vancouver in an 18-hole play-off for the Canadian Junior Golf Championship.

The husky, blond 17-year-old youngster fired a 75 over the Saskatoon Golf and Country Club's par 70 course against Roland's 81.

It was the second play-off in an effort to decide the title. In the regular competition for Canadian juniors last Sunday they tied with 152 for 36 holes. In a play-off Monday each shot 73 for 18 holes. It was the first time since the junior competition was inaugurated in 1938 that a play-off of any sort has been necessary.

It was a popular win for the Red Deer youngster, who plays football and hockey at home as well as golf and will report to Boston Bruins' training camp at Sudbury this autumn.

He succeeds Hall of Montreal, who was the 1949 Junior Championship at Saint John, N.B. Silverberg won today because he played leader golf in the high wind that whistled about the course; his iron game and his chipping proved the deciding factor.

The Outdoors Gunsmiths Killing Time Before Rush Commences

By Doug Peden

Big the poor gunsmith!

Currently in the midst of the annual doldrums of their gun-repairing business, the men who make firearms for local hunters are taking in hardly enough work to keep themselves busy. But they recall that within the next few weeks things will take a big swing in the opposite direction and wonder why most of their customers always wait until the last moment to have gun-work done.

If hunters follow their annual pattern, they will wake up one of these mornings with the realization that the new hunting season is just around the proverbial corner and join in the late rush to have that bluing job done or have their shooting irons overhauled or repaired. Then the poor gunsmiths will be among the most overworked men in town with more work than they can handle.

And, as before, some of the sportsmen will have delayed too long and will face the opening day with their favorite gun in unserviceable condition.

BANS BITE WELL

Brightest spot on the near-by fishing scene, as far as fresh-water anglers are concerned, is the excellent bass fishing. Often neglected by rod enthusiasts, the gummy bronzebacks are hitting well on plugs and large gaudy-colored flies in Elk, Beaver, Florence and Durand lakes. St. Mary's Lake on Salt Spring Island, in perhaps the best producer lately, with fish averaging from three to five pounds. Most bass are being taken in the evening.

Another warmish location recently has been the water in the vicinity of the Gorge Bridge where sea-run cutthroats are taking the fly more readily than they have for several years. Most of the anglers out after the sea trout appear to be youngsters, with Bob Hurst and Jack Wiloughby two of the more successful fly casters. Best time for the cutthroats is said to be just on the turn of an incoming tide and the favored lures are white, or white-and-blue bucktails with silver.

STEELHEAD RUN

Sea-run cutthroats are also moving into many of the Island's east coast streams and giving good evening sport to fly-fishermen. John Lynde writes from Qualicum that he took one of one and a half pounds and that there are plenty of bigger ones around. Lynde also mentions that reports on Summer steelheads in the Stamp River are encouraging.

Although most of the Lower-Island lakes have suffered from warm weather, Shawanigan Lake is still producing trout for evening fishermen. Further up the Island, Cowichan, Sprat, Great Central and Cameron Lakes are reported fair as are the Stamp and Ash Rivers. The Campbell Lakes remain good bets.

COWICHAN LEADER

Capt. Bud Griffith of Cowichan Bay yesterday took over the top rung in the Cowichan Bay Club Ladder Derby as he weighed in a salmon of 31 pounds two ounces. Duncan's John S. Lawrence was the previous top man with a 27-pounder he reeled in off Grouse Bay Tuesday.

Coles have made their appearance in Saanich Inlet to join the fair numbers of spring present in those waters.

Don Charlton weighed in the largest spring at the Goldstream dam during the week—a 27-pounder he hooked off Chesterfield Rock yesterday. Close behind was 13-year-old Bruce Armour with a 25½-pounder last Saturday, the same day that Jack O'Hara picked up a button by bringing in a 26½-pound spring at Hall's. Charlie Pauling and Bert Southern each landed a fish just under 22 pounds on Saturday and Fred Booth did the same on Sunday.

Fred Tull, who appears to be making a determined bid for the honor of weighing in the most salmon over 20 pounds at the Inlet during the summer, boated two more during the week. Son Russell gained a button with a 23-pound specimen last Friday.

SHOOT CANCELED

Victoria Gun Club President, Roger Monteth, yesterday announced the cancellation of Sunday's trap shoot at Albert Head. Monteth says the move was made to give scatter-gunners a break in their shooting activities before the annual trap shoot at North Saanich Rod and Gun Club next Sunday.

Don't forget the Solarium Salmon Derby on Sunday. Every ticket bought means more aid for the crippled children and you don't have to catch a fish to win one of the attractive consolation prizes.

First Prize Would Come In Handy

He hasn't won it yet, and odds are heavily against him doing so, but Bob Redgrave admittedly would like to add first prize in Sunday's Solarium Salmon Derby to electric refrigerator he received for weighing in largest fish in Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association Members' Derby last month. Planning to be married in near future, Redgrave found refrigerator welcome addition to collection of household effects. He was caught yesterday by Colonist cameraman as he cast envious glance at silver-leaf service, which will be first fishing prize in Solarium event. Purchasing entry ticket from Bill Johnston (right) in local sporting goods store. Derby officials, anticipating near-record turnout of anglers, stress fact that proceeds will be turned over to crippled children's hospital.

New Westminster Adanaes gave Victoria Shamrocks hopes of an Inter-City Lacrosse League play-off berth a hefty boost last night as they taught their city rivals, the Salmonbellies, a 16-9 boxing lesson in Queen's Park Arena.

The loss left the Bellies trailing the Irish by six points, with nine games remaining on the schedule for each club. Vancouver Burrards, with a game in hand, trail the third-place Shamrocks by two points.

PLAY TONIGHT

Tonight the Rocks journey to Vancouver Forum for a game with the Indians that could go a long way in determining the Victorians' chances to close out the season on top of the heap. A victory would put them within two points of the league leaders while another loss at the hands of the rugged Tribesmen, only team to hold an edge over them, would drop the Shamrocks six points off the pace.

Jackie Northrup notched five goals which helped boost Adanaes into a first-place deadlock with Indians and put Jackie into the top spot in the league individual scoring chase.

Levi (Chief) McCormack, former Spokane outfielder, yesterday stepped into a new field of politics. He filed for the Democratic nomination for country auditor.

Dick Barrow, 18-year-old south-paw, last night pitched a no-hit, no-run game for Jamestown against Lockport in the Class D Pony League.

Ted Williams said he would be ready to play in six weeks when he left a Boston hospital with his arm in a sling yesterday. Doctors remained doubtful that his injured elbow would recover in time to permit him to play again this year.

Jim Ferrier took the first-round lead in the $15,000 St. Paul Open Golf tournament with a seven-under-par 63 yesterday, one stroke ahead of Skeet Riegel.

Nie-Mo-shun, holder of the world speedboat record, yesterday qualified for tomorrow's Gold Cup race at Detroit with an average speed of 87.52 miles per hour. Qualifying speed is 65 miles per hour.

"Y" Team Asks Recognition Of Relay Time

Bruce Humber, coach of the Y.M.C.A. track and field team, disclosed yesterday that he was applying for recognition of the team's time for the mile relay relay at the second annual invitation track meet in Vancouver on Wednesday, as a Canadian record.

The "Y" team, composed of Bob Hutchinson, Rafael Duke, Gordon Pynn and Bill Farrell, covered the distance in 3:32.8. The "Y" time was 1.8 seconds faster than the time set by the University of Washington at the Vancouver Relays last month, but four-tenths of a second slower than Western Ontario's time last year. Western's time was not accepted as a record as no application for recognition was made. Tentative approval had been given for the University of Washington time as the Dominion standard.

WENATCHER SWEEPS THREE-GAME SERIES AS EX-ATHLETE BRINGS OLD ADAGE TO LIFE

There is an old saying in baseball that a player always comes back to hurt you if he is sold or traded to another club in the same league.

Joe Blankenship, ace of the Victoria mound staff when he won 25 games for the Athletics in 1948, bore out the old adage last night as he turned in his nearest effort of the season to give Wenatchee Chiefs a 10-1 triumph over the A's.

Marty Krug, Jr. greeted Blankenship with a lead-off double in the first inning and later scored the only Victoria run but Billy Dunne's fourth-inning single was the only other hit given up by the Chief hurler. He walked three and retired the last 17 men in order after Dunne's single.

Krug seemed to third after the catch on Charlie Bell's fly to right and scored as Jimmy Moore went out to put the Athletics ahead, 1-0.

Jim "Redneck" started warming mound against his ex-terminator but was charged with the walkback in 14 decisions as he was the victim of shoddy fielding in the first inning. Charlie Bell, the A's new shortstop again had first-inning jitters committed three consecutive bobbles after Larry Neal's single to hand the Chiefs three unearned runs.

Apparently shaken, Hedgecock walked Blankenship and Larry Neal in the second and both scored and scored as Jimmy Moore went out to put the Athletics ahead, 1-0.

Walt Pocke's homer to give the Chiefs a healthy 6-1 lead on only two hits.

Propst relieved Hedgecock in the third and turned in a good relief performance despite three runs in the fourth. He walked four.

In his record breaking effort Marshall set the 550-yard American record at 6:05.1, the 1,000-yard at 11:18.3, the 1,000-metre at 12:46.6 and the 1,200-yard at 15:04.

Eight men, including one Canadian, qualified for tomorrow's finals on the basis of times Jim Portelance of Ocean Falls, B.C., had a qualifying time of 22:41.0. His time ranked sixth among the eight.

Next game, Thursday: Jokers vs. Woolley's, 7:30 p.m. Memorial Stadium.

Foul Bay nosed out the flag-winning Jokers, 6-0, in a stirring battle at Memorial Arena last night but the highlight of the two-game City Senior "B" lacrosse card was the lightning display, turned in by the Navy squad while going down, 8-6, before the Tillamooks.

Although still winless after 17 appearances, the Salmon were anything but dormant last night as they battled the Clumben right down to the wire. They trailed, 5-4, at the half, and 8-5 at the three-quarter breather, then nipped the lone tally of the final quarter in a vain attempt to garner their first victory.

Piche tallied three goals and two assists, turned in the best display of the night to lead the Tars in their losing battle. Bill Finson, with three goals, and Jack Woolley's Jokers squared their contest with Foul Bay at 4-4 in the third quarter but were outscored two goals to one in the final session as Jim McKeachle fired home the winning marker.

Jokers vs. Tillamooks, 7:30 p.m. Memorial Stadium.

Woolley's vs. Foul Bay, 8:30 p.m. Memorial Stadium.

Mayor Calls on Dominion for Plans After Hearing Seattle Defence Talks

Returning to Victoria yesterday following his attendance at a five-day conference in Seattle which studied that city's interim defence plans, Mayor Percy George declared:

"In the very near future and as early as possible I feel we must look for ways and means of creating and instituting a civil defence organization. But before that can be done a great deal of research and technical planning has to be done and it is there that I think the senior Governments should make the first move."

Mayor George stated he realized that officials of the senior Governments were studying civil defence plans for application in an emergency.

KEY FIGURES

He said some 150 observers attended the Seattle "critique," including key defence and Government representatives from Canada and the United States and such representatives of the British Government as Sir John Hodsoll, civil defence expert of the Home Office, and S. F. Wilkinson, Under-Secretary of Health for the United Kingdom.

Mayor George explained that the conference amounted to a post-mortem of the way in which Seattle's civil defences met a recent mock atom bomb attack.

He had high praise for the "masterful" way in which Seattle's Mayor, William Devin and his "working group" organized and carried out the defence of the Seattle area. He said the meticulous detail that went into the preparation of the civil defence plan defied description.

Every walk of life—industrial and business—did something outstanding following the "attack" according to a pre-arranged plan.

IN EARNEST

"They really went into the thing in earnest," declared Mayor George.

He explained that Seattle had been given only three weeks in which to prepare for the mock attack after being chosen as one of three "pilot" cities on which attacks were to be made. The other two cities are Chicago, Ill., and Washington, D.C.

Mayor George stated that the very fact that the "post-mortem" was being attended by key officials of the British, United States and Canadian Governments proved that there existed a very sincere endeavor to pool the resources and knowledge of the three countries against a possible major disaster.

6 Hearts Beating as One...

In the twilight ahead the other eve, around HER neck, HE had his sleeve. Now what made this a rather, unusual site, was HER method of raising the Fahrenheit. She just didn't need, there in his arm, while he slowly drove, to keep out of harm. No—she didn't just sit, & look at his face, but she bobbed about, all over the place. She'd suddenly got free, & sat up straight, then they'd drive for a while, in this normal state. Then all of a sudden, she'd switch to high gear, leap over & kiss him, smack on the ear. "Now... did U EVER?" said the G.F., "see the likes of that?" "She must be," I replied, "an acrobat." "The silly child," the G.F. replied, I looked at her, as I smiled & sighed. "It doesn't bother HIM, one little bit, I guess," I continued, "he's used to it. Now he's adjusting the shade, to keep out the sun, it's just young love... having fun." "Yeah... I know," she said, "but I never acted so, hurry... let's pass, they're going too slow." "Now gaze," I smiled, "in the rear-view mirror, at this new Ford... drawing nearer & nearer. I've been watching them, for quite some time, & love with them, seems more sublime. See how she's nudged, no needful there, now THAT'S what I call, a sensible pair. And it looks to me, & it does for sure, both are good prospects for some furniture." "Then why don't you pass, you've got his number, & I'll holler out, 'Be It Ever So Humble.' You could stay abreast for a little while, & I could tell 'em, 'HUMBER'S GIVE FURNITURE AWAY WITH A SMILE!'" "Yes, but how could we tell those in the rear, we've chrome, or suits in rich veneer?" "Well, for Heaven's sake, I say, WHAT an atmosphere, love out ahead, and bringing up the rear." "Yeah," I replied, "a what's the matter with us, how'd YOU like, some fuss & muss?" So I slid my arm around her waist, nearly knocked off her hat, in my haste. She pretended she was a tiger-lily, altho she sed. "This sure is silly." And so in each car a heavenly load, as we all snaked along on the Gorge Road. Then the guy in front waved to me, he saw in his mirror, we too were carefree. And he beaped his horn, some sort of a sign, as all 3 of us, stayed slowly in line. And the Joe in the rear, he too approved, he nodded his head, his gal hadn't moved. Then the G.F. reached up, and took off her hat, she didn't seem to care, just where she was at. And first thing I knew, & it felt spiny queer, I got a kiss, right behind the right ear. They came the road where we turn off, so I put out my hand, this the sign off. Each driver waved back, as if to say, we'll all hug together, some other day. Our daughters ran to meet us, by the gate, "Golly," they giggled, "you're awfully late." Then Mummy sed, "Well, if you must, your daddy dawdled alone, & we fathered star-dust." Then further puzzled, & Trude held her throat, as the G.F. ballet-danced & seemed to float. Up to the house, with her hat in her hand. "She seems," sed our eldest, "in fairy-land." Then Trude sed, "Daddy, you've a silly wife." "It's all part," I replied, "of the HIGHWAY OF LIFE."

Bengough Warns Labor About Insurance Funds

A tall, heavy-set senior Canadian labor official warned union members in Victoria against being too anxious in asking greater unemployment insurance benefits from Federal authorities.

Currently enjoying a holiday in Victoria is Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

"It is quite true that the fund is a large one but it is to be remembered that it was built up in a time of relatively high employment," he said.

NOT TOO LARGE

"If we ever have a particularly long period of unemployment, such as this country faced once before, we will find the fund is not too large."

"The fund was built up by the contributions of workers and employers—the Government helped in only two minor instances," said Mr. Bengough.

He said the Government today is considering a plan to use the unemployment insurance fund to provide "relief" to unemployed.

"This is not good enough. If the Government uses the fund for that purpose we should see that it reimburses the fund to the amount it takes out," he declared.

NOTES EXPANSION

Mr. Bengough said that membership in the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada was now nearly 500,000 and he painted a rosy picture of expansion in the organized labor movement.

He took a crack at the Federal Government's handling of Canada's unemployment problem and said that the Congress executive was far from satisfied with the way it was being handled.

"The unemployment picture is now considerably improved but the Government has provided no means to prevent another period of widespread unemployment next winter," he said.

PERCY BENGOUGH

Mr. Bengough tackled the social security scheme and pointed out that the labor congress was advocating a Government social security program to be worked on a contributory basis.

NOT OPPOSED

"We are not opposed to private superannuation schemes such as those in operation in many large concerns across the country but we would not like to see these schemes expanded too far," he said.

He said that a scheme where workers enroll at a young age (20) and stay with one firm until retirement age of around 60 restricts the movement of labor across the country.

Mr. Bengough feared that if these schemes were expanded to cover everyone, labor would be immobilized and workers would not be free to move from one city to another and one trade to another.

Uncle Wiggily Story

By Howard

A NEW ISLAND
Uncle Wiggily quickly turned off the motor of his new houseboat in which he and his wife, with some friends, had started to go across Frog Pond.
"Why are you stopping the boat, Wiggily?" asked Mr. Bow Wow, the dog gentleman. He was one of the friends on board. The others were Mrs. Bow Wow and Mr. and Mrs. Twatytall, the jolly pigs. "Is anything the matter, Wiggily, that you are stopping the boat?"

"Uncle Butter just called to me from shore to wait for him," answered the rabbit gentleman.
"Oh, yes, I see him!" grunted the pig gentleman. "I wonder what Butter wants?"
"We'll turn around go back and find out," said Uncle Wiggily. "Uncle Butter is a good friend, and I must see what he wants."
Once more Uncle Wiggily started the motor and swung the houseboat around to go back to the dock near the Amusement Raft.

"What is it, Butter?" asked the rabbit gentleman as the houseboat stopped at the dock. "What do you want?"
"I want to go with you on the trip across Frog Pond," bleated the goat gentleman. "You have room in your houseboat, haven't you?"
"Oh, yes, Uncle Butter. I did think of asking you," said Mr. Longears, "but I thought you would be busy in your grocery."
"I have left the grocery in charge of Billie Wagtail," bleated Uncle Butter. "He's my goat nephew. So I want to come with you, Wiggily."

My wife, Aunt Lettie, also wants a ride.
"But I don't see Aunt Lettie," said Mrs. Longears, who was sitting in the front doorway of the houseboat. "Where is she?"
"Oh, she'll be along," said Uncle Butter easy and casual like.
"How do you know?" grunted Mrs. Twatytall, the nice, fat lady pig. "Are you sure, Uncle Butter, that your wife is coming?"
"Oh, sure! When I heard about Wiggily's houseboat I decided I'd like to have a ride. So I ran down here to the dock. Aunt Lettie saw me and asked where I was going. I said

I wasn't sure, for I really wasn't sure I could catch you, Wiggily. But Aunt Lettie said if I went she was coming after me. And, as Aunt Lettie always does as she says she'll do, I'm sure she'll be prancing along any moment."
"Here she comes now!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Welcome to my new houseboat, Aunt Lettie!"
"Thank you, Uncle Wiggily. Well, Butter, you didn't get away from me, did you?"
"I didn't want to get away from you, my dear."
"I'm not so sure of that, you jolly old goat," laughed Aunt Lettie.

"Never mind, here I am, Uncle Wiggily, and I've brought some Swiss cheese for lunch."
"Thank you, Aunt Lettie," said Mr. Longears. "Now come aboard and we'll start out again." Once more the motor houseboat was chugging across Frog Pond. Uncle Wiggily steered it past Cat Fish Island, past Mud Turtle Island and then, after a while, Mr. Bow Wow barked suddenly:
"Look, Wiggily! There's another just ahead. What island is it?"
"I don't know," answered Captain Wiggily. "It's a new, strange island. We'll go see what it is."
